World Vision HQ • 800 West Chestnut Avenue, Monrovia, CA 91016

VENEZUELA CRISIS

Years of economic and political instability in Venezuela have caused the largest population outflow in Latin America in recent years. About 4 million Venezuelans have left the country seeking food, work, and a better life since 2014. Years of hyperinflation, violence, food and medicine shortages have become unbearable. An estimated 460,000 children who have left Venezuela with their families are in urgent need of food, clean water, shelter, and other basic needs. World Vision has been assisting children with humanitarian assistance, but they still need more help than ever to pull their way through the crisis.

WRCM is a group of music-loving students from elementary, middle, and high school. Since 2001, these students have made it their mission to use music to aid the less fortunate and bring a sense of love and healing to kids suffering from natural disasters around the world. All funds raised are given to World Vision and go towards assisting children in need all over the globe. Visit us at www.wrcm-ca.org for more information.
